Describe how the materials reflect the progression of reading foundational skills from the beginning until the end of kindergarten.

Print concepts, phonological awareness, phonics and word recognition, and fluency are included in every lesson of Kindergarten Reading Street. In Unit 1, students review all the letters of the alphabet in order (MSB GK U1 page 16; TE GK U1 pages 20–21, 36–37, 54–55); focus on identifying rhyming words, syllables, and initial sounds in words (MSB GK U1 pages 12–13, 32–33, 72–73; TE GK U1 pages 18–19, 120–121, 338–339); and begin acquiring the academic vocabulary and high-frequency words they will need to read (MSB GK U1 page 28; TE U1 pages 23, 47, 92, 135, 153, 179, 221). Students also learn about basic print concepts, such as directionality and word spacing, as they work with a variety of literary and informational texts (MSB GK U1 pages 78–85, Kindergarten Student Reader K.1.4, Get Set, Roll! Reader 4; TE GK U1 pages 344–345, 360–361, 395).

Near the end of Unit 1, students learn the letter-sound correspondence Mm/m/ (MSB GK U1 pages 96, 98; TE GK U1 pages 430–431, 446–447, 462–463, 507). By the end of Unit 6, they have learned letter-sound correspondences for all the consonants and vowels and practiced using this phonics knowledge to decode words (MSB GK U6 page 116; TE GK U6 pages 516–517, 532–533, 550–551). This systematic instruction in foundational skills ensures that, as they progress from the beginning to the end of Kindergarten, students are able to take on more responsibility for reading and comprehending text as they become more fluent, confident readers.

EVALUATION INSTRUMENT FOR THE SELECTION OF INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS IN LOUISIANA
2012-2013 Louisiana State Textbook Adoption Cycle
K-5 ELA/Literacy

To be completed by the publisher:

Describe how the materials reflect the integration (horizontal alignment) of the Common Core State Standards for English Language Arts and Literacy across the various strands in kindergarten.

Reading Street provides literacy instruction that integrates reading, writing, speaking, and listening throughout every lesson in Kindergarten. As they read each Week’s Kindergarten Student Reader, main selection, and Get Set, Roll! Reader, students use what they have learned about literary and informational genres (Reading Literature and Informational Texts) and what they have learned about print concepts, phonological awareness, phonics, and word recognition (Foundational Skills) to read with purpose and understanding. While reading the main selection twice, students answer text-dependent and text-specific questions (Speaking and Listening) (TE GK U3 pages 60–73). After reading the main selection the first time, students answer additional text-based questions; retell the selection in their own words (Speaking and Listening); and write to a prompt about the text (Writing), using evidence from the text (MSB GK U3 pages 26, 27; TE GK U3 pages 42–44). As students progress through Kindergarten, the texts increase in complexity, as do the questions, activities, and prompts based on the texts.

Students practice the Conventions skills they are learning (Language) by using those skills in the works they create (Writing) during the Week. Each Day in Weeks 1–5, the writing strand asks students to write in a different form and on a different topic tied to the main selection’s topic (Writing) and encourages discussion through group participation in the creative process (Speaking and Listening) (TE GK U3 pages 29, 46, 75, 103). The writing strand in Week 6 of each Unit offers writing process lessons in which students learn about a specific opinion, informative/explanatory, or narrative writing form and then work together to plan, draft, revise, edit, and present group writing in that form (Writing, Speaking and Listening, Language) (TE GK U2 pages 529, 546, 573, 587, 601).
