Introduction

This document demonstrates how myPerspectives™ English Language Arts meets the objectives of the AP® English Literature and Composition Exam (2014). Correlation page references are to the Student Edition and Teacher’s Edition and are cited by selection or feature title.

myPerspectives™ English Language Arts is a learning environment that focuses on a connected approach to student learning. Students read texts and engage in activities that inspire thoughtful conversation, discussion, and debate.

Students will encounter authors’ perspectives as they read literature from across time periods and cultures. Students will listen to the perspectives of their peers through conversations and collaborative activities. And, as students read the literature and engage in activities in myPerspectives, they will formulate—and defend—their opinions as they develop their own perspectives.

In each unit of study, students will read classic and contemporary fiction and nonfiction texts, and view/listen to media selections, all related to an Essential Question. Students will use technology to interact with texts and activities, and they can write directly in their Student Edition to make interaction with texts more meaningful.

Organization and sequencing of contents: to support instruction in "the experience of literature, the interpretation of literature, and the evaluation of literature" (CB 45)	myPerspectives promotes student-centered learning through a unit organization that: gives students increasing responsibility for the learning process; supports active learning in which students annotate texts, answer questions, and construct knowledge as they search for meaning; promotes social collaboration and interaction among learners; and engages students in making choices in their learning and work they are producing. The program uses a four-step process: Part I. Whole Class Learning: Teachers model, instruct, and support with anchor texts as the class broadens its perspective of the unit topic. Activities focus on making meaning, language development, and effective expression. Examples: 12A–12D, 12–35, 36A–36D, 36–49, 372A–372D, 372–387 Part II. Small-Group Learning: Students work on collaborative activities to broaden their perspectives on the unit topic. They work in groups and develop presentations, participate in group discussions, and share their work in an array of activities. Examples: 304–307, 308A–308D, 308–317, 318A–318D, 318–323 Part III. Independent Learning: Students select one online text to read independently. Examples: 352–353, 354A–354F, 354–356 Part IV: Performance-Based Assessment: Students are required to demonstrate their learning by pulling together the content knowledge, process skills, and learning habits they acquired, practiced, and engaged in throughout the unit. Examples: Performance Task: Write an Explanatory Essay, 58–63; Write an Argument, 190–195
